Our history...

1952

Antonio Rivillas Casado began his career in Marmolejo, founding a society dedicated to the production of spirits, starting with the most popular at that time in Spain, the anisette.

Thus begins the story of Anisette "Flor de Jaén", which was made the traditional way using a copper still.

1958

With the need to increase production and in search of new logistical solutions, the company moved to Andújar, to its current location and expanded the range of products with the coffee and cocoa liqueurs.

It was at that same time that the name LICORES RISKa began to be used for the entire range.

1971

This year marks the entry of the company's second generation. Alfonso Rivillas Jurado took charge of the company, progressively consolidating the company until its current structure and modernizing all production processes.

It is after his entry that the range of products expand, many of which form the structure of the current catalogue of LICORES RISKa.

2003

With the ambition of guaranteeing the quality of all our products and satisfying our customers, in this year we implanted a Quality Management System guaranteed by the strict international regulation UNE-En ISO 9001-2008.

This resulted in facilities equipped with the most modern technology in the industry, always submitting the company to a continuous process of improvement in the development of our products, highlighting:

- A meticulous process of water treatment, which ensures a very high purity of water.
- A computerized dosing system, guaranteeing the uniformity of the production, avoiding errors by batches.
- Pasteurizer incorporated in the bottling line, avoiding risks of contamination by pathogenic organisms.
- Computerized manufacturing process, which, combined with the exhaustive selection of raw materials and a complete automatization of the bottling line, avoids possible sanitary fractures, always providing a product of superb quality.
- Extensive storage facilities make it possible to schedule production objectives and always keep a stock of all the references that compose the LICORES RISKa portfolio.

2014

Some changes are made coinciding with the entry into the company of the third generation. A creative and marketing departments are created. The logo is redesigned, adapting it to the new times, as well as the range of products. The bottling and labelling are changed and new products are introduced to the market, such as the Premium Gin 1952 or the Pink Gin Riska.

Production is unified, limiting the types of packaging, avoiding unnecessary costs in the production chain, allowing us to continue offering a highest quality product at a competitive price.

2016

The sales model, which had traditionally focused exclusively on the HORECA sector, is diversified and extended to the big retail food chains, focusing on large national supermarkets and expansion into new markets beyond our borders. We are now consolidating this business model.

2018

In our constant process of improvement of facilities and production processes, during this year we obtained the IFS Food certification. This is the highest worldwide certification in quality and food safety, which results in a product that meets the highest guarantees for the customer.
